Erotic artist Mark Roberts (who trades under the name Provocative Art) has opened his own art gallery near Hinkley in Leicestershire. After several months searching for a suitable property that provided sufficient space to both work and exhibit, Mark and his partner Julie found an old Victorian cottage with a large outbuilding located on Barwell Lane in a rural setting overlooking the Leicestershire countryside. After three months of renovation, the gallery is open for viewing strictly by appointment. The gallery shows a comprehensive collection of Mark's original works spanning a number of years including drawings, paintings and glass mosaics. www.provocative-art.com/thegallery.html
